

7 Minutes With CBLAZA

an interview by KIIMOLO

So... Where you been, how you been?

Uhh I've been around, you know just keepin my head down staying focused, hope you been well!

Absolutely! We ain't got a lot of time so imma jump right into these questions, can we expect a DEC 7 Ep this year or what?

Word straight to it huh... Tbh idk yet, some days i wake up and say fuck it lets go other days i feel like naw lemme do something else, but December 7 right around the corner so we'll see wont we. People going have to stay locked in if they want to find out.

Okay. Well I can sense growth in your aura... What's been your biggest musical challenge this year?

Can you? That's dope, one can only hope to keep evolving. I think the biggest challenge I came across this year was learning to be ok with sitting on the music and planning instead of dropping everything instantly.

So what's been your biggest lesson in music so far?

Realizing that you can do this alone but at some moment and time you may need extra hands to help you make a vision come to life, that right after the product itself, a solid strong team is what makes a brand great.

In the intro of your latest project out you mention becoming a father, Congrats btw! So how do you balance fatherhood with music and life as an artist, late night studio sessions tours etc?

Thank you! and you know what i do ok, i won't sit here and say i mastered fatherhood, im learning as i go but my child has an amazing mother who knows i do this shit for them, so if something requires me to be gone at late hours of the night or travel OT one time it's not a big deal, i go jugg & go back to the crib. Matter fact i had to show my face on a tour a couple times back when fatherhood was actually a fresh situation, shoutout to BIDM for allowing me to get involved met a lot of dope souls, but coolin on the tour bus was a no no after every show i drove straight back to the crib n met them at the next city that was definitely an experience & i wouldn't do it any differently but lack of sleep was a term floatin round the house heavy!

How would you say fatherhood changed you?

I know it's made me more aware tbf, it's changed the way i look at life, things i once would've seen as serious i now look at as silly, it's definitely impacted my pen and drive 100%.

So has it made you be more forgiving in a way would you say?

Yeah but more importantly i would say you get a deeper understanding for the word patience something i've always struggled with, being a parent forces you to mature quicker and learn patience and changes your views on life its like hard to get me to lose my cool, if i fuck with you and you do something i dont rock with, if it bothers me that much i simply just wont rock with you, life is short forgive move on

How do you handle ladies slidin in ya DMs?

What's this a set up? Uhh if its a bag there i get it! if its a shot its left on read i don't entertain it. If i ever want extra sauce the Mrs got me She Heavy!

Like that! ok! Back to music, where do you get your inspiration from?

From everything yo, from the creator, from life, my family, the ups the downs, everything.
Artist wise whose your favourite, whose on your GOAT list?

Easy that list aint really changed much but its long and aint got no specific order, Hov, Fab, Spades, Cole, Dolph, Nip! Theres certain artists out there i fuck with their way of thinkin how they do business more than their music but if we talkin bars ill add Symba & Meek to that list.

Lyricaly would you say your pen nice?

Of course! aint ever met a rapper thats ever said otherwise about themselves whether true or not! Thas really up to the audience to decide though, but on the other hand you cant really debate food tastes and colors people goin fuck with what they like and thats that.

3 years from now where do you see yourself?

When will that be 2025-26.. at the top of that mountain where the quadruple trillions is real shit! my vision for myself is too big to even put in words but to keep it plain and simple, I see me walkin on my land some crazy 7 thousand hectares where its nothing but villas chateaus castles & towers bigger than the shards n im at the top floor coolin in my office/ recording studios still makin hits & helping my queens n my family n my team accomplish whatever it is they want out of life probably watching one of my jets just hit the private runway getting ready for me n the fam to board to go another somethin thousand hectares somewhere out there to chill n relax

LIVING TAKING CARE OF BUSINESS TAKING CARE OF FAMILY TAKING CARE OF MY PEOPLE!

If your children wanted to follow in your footsteps & do music how would you feel about it?

I'd study them, if they show me hard work, dedication I'd nurture what has proven to be their passion, but I know my children will be Jacks of all trades and MASTERS of all. It's always been ORB over here!

Here's a serious one, have you ever had to bounce back from some sort of mental fall? If yes, how did you overcome that?

If you mean depression o something close to that then yes. Everyone walking this earth will have to at one point or another, depression doesn't pull up on its own it always comes from something that makes yo feel it.. Once you realize that, you know there's a way out of that depressic and the goal now become finding it. For me it was the fact i am not a fan of dwelling, i don't like to dwell in or on anything negative. I'll give myself whatever time is necessary but gotta push forward right after that's been the only way for me. Find the solution that will get you to feel cheerful which is an opposite of depression.

What motivates you to keep moving forward?

Personally, my motivation wake up every day at 5-6am like clockwork. My Queens. They my motivation. They who I do it for.

Ok give the 1st word that best describes you without putting too much thought into it GO!

K I N G

Is there something you wish you would have accomplished but didn't do, and what advice would you give folks discovering music is the path they want to take?

Wouldn't that equal regretting? bruh The past is the past, wanna accomplish something that bad do it now! It's never too late!

But to those thinking its music I say GO! don't be afraid to learn, lose, & take risks. But dont let nobody tell you you cant do it or its not achievable, fuck their fears! You goin meet some dream sellers that's going swear if you stick by them they'll get you there. Chinx rest his soul, he once said "Aint nobody goin tell you how to get rich, you gotta learn it on your own!" Move out of your hometown, have a plan, Experience life, have faith in no man but yourself! know you can achieve ANYTHING, Nothing is impossible, & find comfort in knowing What's yours will be! Just work at it and take it seriously! Know that your TIME itself is a form of currency so watch how and with whom you spend it.

So you really going keep us in the dark and not tell us what you got comin next?

I aint saying a word ma, real shit, only make an announcement when somethings permanent. If we all learned to do that we'd get ahead in life faster i believe, but i will say shoutout to PK91 & shoutout to Beckred... They're two producers I've been locked in with lately & in and out the stu with. For those who don't know, PK made 95% of the beats I used on that CBLAZA Ep. Beckred a producer that I met through UTM. Both of these souls are hungry and on the same page as I am when it comes to this music shit very talented individuals. So just know we working big facts!